HIGH HANDED ACTIONS.

Attempt to Maim a British Pilot in Alaskan Waters.

The tyranny of the collector of customs at Sitka, Mr. Max Prasch, towards a British pilot, has been shamefully exemplified.

A short time ago the steam schooner Jeannie from San Francisco, bound to Alaska with canning supplies, called at this port to take on a pilot. Capt. Robt. Hicks, a resident of this city and an old Alaskan pilot, was engaged and a few hours after the vessel had sailed here departed for the north with her.

On the return trip the Jeannie ran into Sitka to take on a supply of water. It was here the arrogant collector of customs essayed to exercise Czar-like powers over both the captain and the pilot. To break off in the narrative it is necessary to know that word had been sent up on the steamer Geo. W. Elder that Capt. Hicks was on board the Jeannie sailing as pilot. On the Jeannie making fast at the wharf at Sitka, Collector of Customs Prasch at once boarded her and threatened to imprison Pilot Hicks unless $100 was paid at once, alleging that he had no authority to pilot in Alaskan waters. "You may imprison me, but not a cent will you get," was the retort. The captain of the Jeannie stated to the collector of customs that he would surrender the vessel's papers and let the collector and the vessel's owners fight the case out. However, the vessel was released by the captain of the Jeannie signing a paper to the effect that Pilot Hicks would not pilot the vessel until British waters were reached! The Jeannie then departed for her return trip, and a heavy snow storm coming up, the services of Pilot Hicks were needed more than ever, and he resume d that position there and then.

Capt. Hicks' pilot certificate was taken from him by the collector, who threatened to confiscate it, but it was eventually returned to its owner. The certificate is an old one, having expired six years ago, and the United States authorities have refused to renew it because he is a resident of a Canadian city, or in other words, because he does not reside in an American city. Captain Hicks cites instances of Alaskan pilots who reside outside of Uncle Sam's jurisdiction who follow their profession without molestation. The last of this incident has not been heard yet.

For the South.

The Umatilla sailed for San Francisco this morning with a light passenger list as follows: E. F. Heisterman, A. Blake, A. Turner, and A. Heath. She took down a large cargo of hides and deer skins and considerable rice.

Train's Trip.

The steamship Abyssinia, with George Francis Train aboard, arrived at Yokohama on the 4th instant, 16 days from this port, which is three days late at least. The general impression is that Train will not girdle the earth in 60 days, and if he does as well as the fair Nelly Bly's 72-day trip, he will have covered himself with glory enough.

Important Sale.

Messrs. J. P. Davies & Co. announce an important sale of Land on Galiano Island, which is situated mid-way between the four best markets of the province. The great advantage 1473 acres on the south end of the island, and lies on Plumper's Pass the direct route of all steamers to and from mainland points. The sale will take place to-morrow at noon, at the salesrooms, Wharf street.

The Canners' Position.

The Columbian is authority for the statement that the Fraser river canners men will not take out licenses at the ice fixed by the government, and they will pack the sockeye run without licenses if in the meantime the ice has not been made equal to all cases. The canners men say they do not object to paying $20 for each license, but insist that everyone should be treated alike, pickers, freezers and fishermen. They will maintain a solid front against discrimination, and are confident that in the end their demands will be granted.

Loyal Waverly Lodge, No. 149, was inaugurated on Saturday, 12th. D.D.G.M. Wm. E. Ottaway, of New Westminster, recently of Queen Victoria Lodge, Ingersoll, Ont., assisted by Dr. Watts, performed the ceremony, there being twenty-eight charter candidates, many of whom pronounced the ritual of this great Home Institution to be very impressive and most sacred, together with the A 1 assurance and endowment fund, far beyond their most sanguine expectations. The policies aggregate $20,000 in this new lodge.

Suicide in Vancouver.

A case of suicide and attempted murder took place in Vancouver on Saturday in which the victim was Richard Bolton. Bolton, it seems, had been for some years on bad terms with his wife. He was arrested for abusing her and was bound to keep the peace for a year. He could not find the sureties and left the city for Victoria. He returned on March 30th, and was almost immediately re-arrested. For two days he stayed in jail and he again went to Victoria, saying he would not come back. The next heard of him was last Friday night when the tragic affair occurred. About 12 o'clock he went to his wife's residence and after making some noise outside burst in the door. Mrs. Bolton, on hearing the noise got up immediately. They met in the hall when, it is stated, he took hold of her by the arm and pressed a revolver against the side of her head attempting to fire it, but failed. After a struggle Mrs. Bolton escaped and ran into the street calling for the police. Their three children, the eldest of whom is a girl of thirteen, were aroused by the uproar and screamed for help, but before five police could arrive Richard Bolton had shot himself in the head and expired.

Okanagan Valley.

Great satisfaction is felt throughout this valley that the Shuswap & Okanagan railway is an established fact, and that it will be constructed in the near future. Already the surveyors are on the ground and a gang of men will follow to clear the right of way. With this railway and the new steamer now under construction in charge of Captain Shorts, splendid shipping facilities will be provided for all produce grown in this valley—the garden of British Columbia. A greatly increased acreage will be sown this spring in anticipation of high prices during construction of the railway. Seeding is well under way though it has been a backward spring in this locality.

The railway will encourage new industries, such as dairying, fruit-growing etc. "Last winter the stockmen had somewhat unduly complained, but in comparatively untilled compound with other localities, as prosperous as plentiful.

It is to be hoped that the $2000 appropriated by the government this session for artesian well boring, will result in something tangible being done. Should they prove a success, thousands of acres now useless, except perhaps for a little pasture, would be gained for agricultural purposes. Taking into consideration the mines about Okanagan, the probability of the artesian wells proving a success and the certainty of good prices for all kinds of produce grown, truly we may say "our lines have fallen in pleasant places."

Vernon, April 10.

A CRANK'S PROPHESY.

The Destruction of Oakland by Earthquake Did Not Materialize.

Death of Ex-Speaker Randall—Announcement of Fresh Nihilist Plots.

London, April 14.—Preliminary rumors of the discovery of a new Nihilist plot are coming in from St. Petersburg and from what is already known they seem more important than others. There have now been three arrests a month and the peculiar circumstances of each suggest that they have been purposely put into the way of a police discovery in order to divert attention from a central conspiracy. Gruesome reports continue to be spread, connecting high officials and youths of noble family with this present Nihilist plot.

ITALIAN POLITICAL TROUBLES.

Rome, April 14.—All the arrested men who took part in yesterday's riot have escaped. Deconcilis, the leader, has been released. The workingmen announce they will hold a meeting next Sunday, with or without permission. A Socialist riot is feared, but the government is acting with intelligence and patience. It is said that Powerful and the Neapolitan combine against clerical-Papal government with or without the consent of the Pope. The approaching general election will be only fanning the flame of discontent so that disorders may follow.

REPRESSION AND MURMURS SUPPRESSED.

Berlin, April 14.—The Emperor has become entirely reconciled to his brother, and the bitterness which marred their relations during the last four years has disappeared. Not a ray is allowed to pass without seeing them together.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

NO EARTHQUAKE, NO TIDAL WAVE.

Oakland, April 14.—This was the day prophesied for Oakland's destruction by an earthquake and tidal wave, but this town is as placid as a mill pond to-day. No earthquakes, no tidal wave and no excitement whatever. Nobody went to Contra Costa even. There is considerable indignation in Oakland at the extent to which the bogus conscious has been worked up in the newspapers, and Oakland is said to bear the brunt of it. A Stockton despatch says that Erickson, who is in the insane asylum there, claims that the proph sy holds good until midnight.

DEATH OF EX-SPEAKER RANDALL.

Washington, April 14.—Immediately after reading the journal in the House this morning, O'Neil of Pennsylvania announced the death of ex-Speaker Randall. Messenger, on motion of Congressman Kelley of Pennsylvania, the House adjourned out of respect to his memory.

STARVING OUT A PASTOR.

New York, April 14.—A special to the Herald from Lockport, N. Y., says: Rev. J. W. Sanborn, in a sermon on Easter Sunday, announced that he had but "six cents in his pocket and his family had had only a three cent meal for the past two weeks to subsist on." He charged that the church was trying to starve him out and that he could not stand it any longer. Mr. Sanborn is a celebrated Indian scholar and was pastor of the First Methodist church. He has a world-famed reputation, having lectured before the British Historical Society at London and the Cooper Institute, New York, last fall. The wealthy portion of the congregation were provoked because Sanborn would not discontinue a series of revival meetings and joined a sensational evangelist named Yateman, who has been aired in the papers, and were drawn over poor girl crazy in this city. His enemies tried to have the Bishop remove him, but the pastor's friends rallied to his support and compelled the Bishop to reappoint him. Then began the starving out process. Pastors of other churches here aided him out, but in his financial straits this affair calls out severe criticisms upon the church.

A PLEA FOR THE U. P. R. R.

Chicago, April 14.—Jesse Spalding, one of the government directors of the Union Pacific, has made a report to Secretary Noble in which he says that "the road is far more valuable as a property than it was five years ago, and that the growth of the whole west is due in a great measure to it and its branches." He sometimes, "it cannot pay the government the $27,000,000 which it owes at this time, but is able to offer as security $34,000,000 more than the government now holds for its indebtedness. It asks for an extension of time and a lower rate of interest, both of which the government can afford to grant rather than to see the property imperilled, for to imperil it would threaten the ruin of thousands of people who have invested money in the enterprise, and more than this, it would mean the practical impoverishment of hundreds of those who have settled on its lines during recent years and whose interests are so closely woven with the prospects of the road that they cannot be separated."

THE McCALLA INQUIRY.

New York, April 14.—A dispatch to the Herald from Washington says: Judge Advocate General Remey, of the navy, and his assistants, are still engaged with the McCalla case. They completed a review of the papers some days ago and are now engaged upon a preparation of the charges and specifications in accordance with the findings of the court of inquiry. An order for trial by court martial of Commander McCalla and Lieutenant Wyatt will be issued simultaneously with the publication of the report of the court of inquiry. It is said there will be from ten to fifteen specifications accompanying the charges against McCalla and several of his subordinates in the Barondes will, it is intimated, figure in this specification. It is said the department has taken steps to obtain official knowledge of the alleged spree in the Bermudas.

DEATH BY BRIDGE.

Wheeling, W. V., April 14.—Foreman Rose, of Mills to Jacobsons, on the line of the Norfolk & Western Railway extension, in Wayne county, A. S. Meyer of Louisville, Ky., clerk of the camp, and five Wills Jones, assistant of the outfit, were terribly beaten by negro railroad laborers on Friday. Rose has since died and two of the others are in a precarious condition. The trouble arose from an order by the contractor, which the negroes resisted. They cut up the tents, destroyed cards and were helping themselves to stores when Rose and Meyer interfered, calling to their aid nine or ten citizens. The negroes put them to flight, beating seven of them in a terrible manner. The fugitives gave the alarm and about twenty-five citizens armed with rifles, charged the negroes and captured seven of them. The others were chased across Twelve Pole creek and into the woods.

THIS IS BENEFICENCE.

Baron Hirsch's Magnificent Charitable Scheme for Hebrews.

New York, April 14.—Once more the name of Baron Hirsch is coupled with a magnificent charitable scheme. About one year ago he offered to prominent American Hebrews a plan for aiding the Hebrews of this country. He has just sent to the committee his first instalment of the sum promised, $120,000 annually, for distribution immediately. A deed of trust states the specific objects for which the money shall be used, as follows: Education and relief of Hebrew immigrants from Europe, chiefly from Russia; provision for transportation of immigrants selected after their arrival at American ports; provision for training immigrants in trades, and contributing to their support while learning such trade; provision for improving the mechanical training of adults and youths; provision for instruction of immigrants in the English language and in technical trades and agricultural schools; co-operation with established agencies in various sections in the United States, whose duty in the whole or in part is to furnish aid and relief and education to the needy and deserving applicants of the Jewish faith.

A SOUTHERN SENSATION.

Horsewhipped and then Asked to Resign.

New York, April 12.—A special to the World from Elberton, Ga., says: The loungers around the public square last Wednesday morning were treated to an exciting scene. J. S. Harper appeared on the square with a horsewhip in his hand. This unusual sight attracted the attention of those who were about and they watched his motions with considerable curiosity. They were not left long to doubt as to his meaning, for upon Col. Philip W. Davis was seen walking across the square, when Mr. Harper approached him and saying only, "you infernal scoundrel" startled in with the whip and made little or no resistance. The cause of the difficulty is said to be about certain attentions which Davis paid to a lady at which Harper took exception later in the day a meeting of citizens was held in the City Hall, of which D. P. Oglesby was elected chairman and John L. L. Almond, secretary. This meeting, after a thorough investigation of the circumstances of the case, adopted the following resolutions without a dissenting voice: Resolved, that P. W. Davis be requested to resign his position as representative in the state legislature from Elbert county, and that a committee of five citizens be appointed to notify him of this act on." The committee went to find Davis to notify him of the meeting's action, but failed to do so, he having already left the city. Another resolution was passed as follows: "In the name of honor and virtue and peace of this country, we trust Mr. Davis will leave the town and county in six hours, never to return." A supplementary motion required a copy of this resolution to be sent to Davis with the signatures of those present at the meeting. Public opinion is very much excited over the matter, but the action of the meeting is generally endorsed. Col. Davis was elected representative from Albert county, a prohibition stronghold, on the "wet" ticket at last election, defeating several strong candidates. Since his election he has been drinking, which accounts for his downfall. His wife is a niece of Harper the man who whipped him.

THE CAPITAL

Gilmour's Free Trade Speech in the Commons—General Notes.

Special to THE TIMES.]

Ottawa, April 14.—On the duty on rice in the House early on Saturday morning, Gilmour, of New Brunswick, delivered an out and out free trade speech, comparing free trade England with protectionist America, and characterizing the National Policy as a "child of the devil." He said that his "Satanic majesty" was never better satisfied than when he saw the ministers of finance and customs putting their heads together over a question of "specific" and "ad valorem"—the twin children of iniquity—so that they might commit legalized robbery. Having robbed the farmers, he said that the tariff was now directed to draw the last drop of blood out of the working classes. There was no half measures protection for him, but free trade with all the world. A few years ago he would have been hooted, he said, but this morning he was cheered. "It was a sign of the times we live in," he said.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

Owing to the approaching election here, and fearing the opposition of the lumbermen, the government have announced they will drop the bill preventing dumping saw dust in the Ottawa river.

Over one million young fish were sent from the hatchery here to-day to Brockville for location in British Columbia. The young salmon are doing well.

Dr. Dawson, of the geological survey, leaves to-morrow for Vancouver.

Wm. Howe is the successful tenderer for heavy British plate glass used by the department of marine and fisheries in Ontario and Quebec, for British Columbia.

A mass meeting of Conservatives will be held to-night in the Opera House, when requisitions from all over the country will be presented to Mr. Mackintosh, the candidate for Ottawa city.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

A Resume of Events in the Sporting Arena.

The first weekly rifle competition of the Victoria Rifle Association was shot on Saturday afternoon at Clover Point rifle range. The ranges were to have been 200, 500 and 600 yards, but the wind was blowing so hard from the right that it was found to be impossible to shoot at the long ones. An interesting competition was held, however, at the 200 yard range, 10 shots. The highest score was 44, lowest 12.

HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

Mr. Cunningham's Resolution For Better Mail Service on the Fraser.

The Reason Why the Postmaster General Depreciated the Route.

MONDAY, April 14.

Mr. Speaker took the chair at 2 p.m.

VICTORIA-WESTMINSTER MAIL.

Mr. Cunningham moved that an humble address be presented to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor praying His Honor to further impress upon the Dominion government the pressing necessity of maintaining a tri-weekly mail service between the aforesaid ports. The mover was afraid the Dominion government was not fully informed on the vast importance of the interests on the Lower Fraser. He pointed out that the question was not a local but a provincial one, in which the capital city was as much interested as anyone. He hoped the resolution would pass unanimously.

Hon. Mr. Turner in seconding the motion, said the rapidly advancing interests of the Fraser demanded the best possible mail facilities, in fact better and more regular communication than ever they had received.

Hon. Mr. Higham said there was something particularly unhappy about this correspondence. The postmaster-general depreciated the route because it was not calculated for the quick "dispatch of mail matter." But it was not merely the transfer of a few letters and papers, which had to be considered, but the affording of communication necessary to the large commercial interests existing on the Fraser river, which the two cities at each end of the route were so deeply interested. There was not part of the province where regular communication was important as to this part of it. He hoped the Dominion government would be induced to view this question in the light of public and not of departmental interest.

Mr. Orr was in accord with the resolution but did not think it went far enough. He thought the necessity of establishing a weekly mail steamer for running along the coast of the mainland.

Mr. Lindner did not think the House could express itself too strongly on the manner in which the department at Ottawa had treated the former resolution. None who had not recently visited the part of the country interested had any idea of its rapid growth. It was only a short time ago when two trips per week were sufficient, but to-day six trips per week were more necessary to the farming, fishing and agricultural interests than two were formerly. It was not only the people below New Westminster who were interested in this matter for he was were farmers on the upper part of the river to the keys supplied when the communication was kept up.

Hon. Mr. Beaven said, in looking into this matter, so important to the public interest, we should look into matters nearer home. He read the correspondence between the government on the subject and pointed out that the local government was completely and utterly silent. Not a word nor syllable was used by the provincial government why this subsidy should be maintained. In dealing with intelligent men, it was no use presenting the bald proposition, but arguments had to be advanced showing why the request should be granted. He did not wonder the subsidy was not renewed. When the matter was dealt with so sublimely it was not expected that the members of the Dominion should change their minds; it was not surprising the Dominion government refused to touch the matter when the provincial government would not take the responsibility of advocating it. If the provincial secretary had just put his hand to paper and advocated this subsidy to the Dominion government, as well as he did in this House, the request would without doubt have been granted.

The attorney general defended the government by saying that a resolution of this kind was better than a long treatise by the government.

Mr. Grant said the Dominion government should take a leaf from the United States where every office a large sum was spent to carry a very few letters and papers. He pointed out that he had moved time and again for a subsidy to carry a mail to Cassiar, which had paid hundreds of thousands into the Dominion treasury and yet not a cent had been voted for the purpose.

Mr. Cunningham said it was a bad thing when a people felt that if they were under a foreign flag they would obtain more justice. He hoped the Dominion government would do nothing to foster the growth of this sentiment, for he considered the Fraser river interests were as advanta, closely attached as if another flag floated over it. The resolution carried.

THE VACANT CONSTITUENCY.

The prospect of there being a large number of candidates to select from in New Westminster district, is good. At present, in addition to ex-Mayor Townsend, the names of Messrs. D. A. Curtis, R. Douglas, G. E. Corbould and Capt. Robinson of New Westminster city are mentioned. Mr. C. D. Rand of Vancouver has issued a card "for self and others," instructing voters not to sign any requisition till the writs are issued.

THE ROYALTIES INIQUITY.

Quartz mining men, outside the Houses of Assembly, irrespectively of politics, condemn the proposed royalty on gold and silver mine-products for the reasons stated in their petition. The opinion of the signers, on a matter that affects vitally the future of the industry with which they are connected is surely entitled to respectful consideration. Among them are the names of Mr. Sproat, ex-gold commissioner of West Kootenay and agent for the Eagle Gold Mining Co. and the Davenport Silver Mining Co., Mr. Wilson, who in addition to large personal interests, represents the Nicola Mining Co.; Mr. Davis, manager of the Cottonwood Gold Mining Co.; Mr. Hill, of Toad Mountain, manager of the Kootenay Bonanza Company; Mr. R. D. Atkins experienced in mining in different countries; the veteran mining man, Mr. Kuntz; Mr. Gray, of Big Bend; Mr. Tilton, of Illecillewaet; and other thoroughly representative and experienced men. It is accidental that some of these are in Victoria, and they express surprise that an attempt should be made to legislate irreversibly, by a snap vote on quartz mining matters, without any reference to the wishes or interests of those engaged in the business, and indeed without their knowledge. The whole system of royalties is pernicious and obsolete in well governed countries. It is one of the worst legacies from feudal times. Bad as it is when in the hands of the government it is doubly hurtful and vexatious when farmed out to private individuals or corporations. For a variety of reasons there is no industry in which royalties are so obnoxious as they are in gold and silver mining. And the very last grantees to whom these mines should be farmed out on a system of royalties are transportation companies, which, by the very nature of their business, have mining camps under their thumbs. The recorded opinion of our mining men is that the passing of the Railway Aid Bill, if it includes the royalty clause, will "practically prohibit quartz mining" in the province.

IS THE COLONIST JUSTIFIED?

Bearing in mind that National Policy can no longer be regarded an experiment; bearing in mind that the conditions governing this province are fully understood at Ottawa, or that if they are not the blame attaches to the province's representatives, of what avail is it for the Colonist to assume a mildly deprecatory tone in dealing with local interests in relation to Tory policy? Does the Colonist suppose that this "come, let us reason together" style of argument has any effect on the thick-skinned, venal gang at Ottawa? May it be supposed, when we remember the proverbial obstinacy of the Tory character, together with the fact that they never adopted a reform policy except under the strongest pressure, that they are amenable to mild protest? Does not the Colonist know, if it knows anything, that the mind's eye of the Tory is forever looking backward; that what their fathers were is good enough for them? Does the Colonist know of a solitary Tory who, in adopting a forward movement, is not tortured with the thought of being haunted by the grizzly skeleton of his departed ancestor? Is not the Colonist profoundly aware that National Policy is really an expression of hatred for the United States born of family traditions, as is instanced in the Tecumseh dynasty and other families of similar ilk scattered throughout the length and breadth of Canada? And will not the Colonist admit that what is applicable to the constituents of Tory politicians down east about expresses the situation out west? Presuming that the Colonist is aware of all these things, for it is incredible that the gentleman who fulminates nocturnal editorials should not be, why does he not offer something more than a formal, mildly deprecatory, milk-and-water protest, against a policy which is draining the life blood of British Columbia? Is not the Colonist aware that it is stultifying itself? What is the nature of the bond which prevents the Colonist from hauling the sillurians who misrepresent this province? Is a journal necessarily bound to hard-and-fast political lines? Is a journal supposed to swear that black is white when it knows better and when it knows that its readers know better also? Imagine a case in which the transfusion of blood is necessary to save a patient, and we have the relation of British Columbia to "National Policy." "National Policy" is the patient, old, played out, and yet the Tory physicians insist that British Columbia shall surrender its life-giving fluid that the child of an inbred prejudice may continue to live. Was there ever a theory more absurd, and have we not a case in which the Tory quacks might be sued for mal-practice? As has been pointed out in these columns British Columbia is assessed for her coals, flour and fruits in the sum of $250,000 a year, and we may assume that in other lines of goods she is fleeced for as much more. Without desiring to exaggerate, some fifty thousand people are taxed a quarter of a million of dollars a year to support a Tory fad. We are told that because the Yankees impose a tax on Canadian exports that we must retaliate, impoverish ourselves to spite the Yankees. This is common sense, this is business, this is Tory, and the electors so far have been verdant enough to subscribe to it! Far be it from us to desire a condition of things which would prove inimical to Canadian interests. We have no disposition, no desire, no latent hankering to link our political fortunes with the Great Republic. We believe that political isolation is inseparable from the best interests of both countries. Canadians, certainly, have nothing to gain by throwing themselves into the maelstrom of American affairs, nor is it in the interest of the United States to complicate its political conditions by the addition of 5,000,000 Canadians. This much, we believe, is fully understood by all thoughtful persons on both sides of the line. So far as we can see there seems to be a tacit understanding between all thoughtful persons, whether Canadians or Americans, that the political status quo should be maintained. But the maintenance of the political status quo need not determine the business status quo. We should not retaliate for political reasons. Business considerations alone, motives of economy should be the basis influence in governing our trade relations with foreign countries. The nature of politics apology from time immemorial, except with English Tories, and even this feature now has no footing on other than Canadian soil, has been colored by financial considerations. It may be mentioned as a fundamental principle that a political policy which has its root in inbred prejudice, is diametrically opposed to the law of progress. However, we need not continue this subject. It only remains to be said, that the question of international trade relations is a subject which invites the serious consideration of every elector, and that having reasoned it out they should vote as they think, and not as the Board of Trade did last fall—responsive to their Tory instincts.

IN CONTRADISTINCTION.

In contradistinction to the steady fight the News has maintained against the guaranteeing of Electric Railway bonds, is the comparative silence on the subject by the government organs. The Colonist has spouted but twice, and then evidently under pressure, judging of its perfunctory treatment of so philanthropic an enterprise. The World has sputtered away in its usual stereotyped strain, not more than twice and then, evidently, at the instance only of the government goad; while as for the Columbian, that good and true toaster of the Quinsette, not until its issue of April 11th has it spoken with sufficient emphasis to attract attention. But the singular feature of the whole business is that though these Electric Railway enterprises are reputed to have bushels of intrinsic merits to recommend them, the World and the Columbian both, instead of supporting the project of their masters, in the dignified strain they ordinarily affect, pounce on the News as if it was a journalistic rather than a public matter.

The Columbian is mad because the News, "for two weeks now," to quote the classic language of our contemporary, "without missing an issue has been trying hard to earn its wages by pitching into the proposed electric railway guarantee, and, with true shyster instinct, hitting below the belt, butting with the head, kicking and all manner of fouling has been freely indulged in." The Columbian, it would appear, cannot understand that the newspaper which opposes philanthropists of the stripe of the Electric Railway projectors, must, if it would win, strike hard and fast, and often. Only perseverance will win in a fight of this kind. When a body of men set themselves to work to confer a public benefit at the public expense, and to their own profit, the sense of conscious rectitude they experience nerves them to meet tranquilly the outrageous buffets of a captious journalist. Deeply imbued with the sweet consciousness that while feathering their own nests, they are conferring an inestimable boon on that patient animal, the tax-payer, the mere fact of being denounced by a newspaper is no more than what good men may expect. It is extraordinary that men whose hearts go out to the multitude at the multitude's expense, should be made the victims of a rabid press, but so goes the world, and they will have to stand it. But the cream of the joke is in the statement of the Columbian, that "the News has been trying hard to earn its wages," etc. We may infer that since the triumvirate of organs referred to have averaged only about two columns each in support of the philanthropists, that they are paid by the inch instead of by the job. If the philanthropists had bounced the newspaper trio in proportion to the sum they are trying to wrest from the treasury, the chances are the organs in question would be as indefatigable in support of the cause as the News has been against it. But allowing these remarks to be aspersions on the fair fame of the organs of the philanthropists, how are we to account for their sporadic, we may say "gingerly," treatment of a scheme which has so many intrinsic merits? The "good book" admonishes us not to hide our light under a bushel, and yet our contemporaries only expose the refulgence of Electric Railways by fits and starts, and then in an abusive strain. We can't account for it. Is it possible that the government tonfers have a conscience? It is not a little remarkable that they have not been as fierce for Electric Railways as the News has been against them.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"There are indications," said Mr. Foster in his budget speech, "that a useless of settlers is being formed in the Northwest who will write home to their relatives and bring more immigrants to our shores." After this who will say that the Dominion government has no immigration policy? They do not, it is true, believe in attracting suitable settlers to the Northwest by making that country a cheap one to live in. There is no necessity for any such thorough going policy. Just assist a few immigrants across, set them to work writing letters, and the thing is done!

A great deal has been said, says the Montreal Star, against water-tight bulk-heads in steamships, but the fact that the City of Paris after a terrible smash below the water line managed to float for five days, will long be remembered as a conclusive and practical demonstration of the utility of the compartment system. That we have had to chronicle the narrow escape of a fine ship without the loss of a single life instead of one of the greatest marine disasters on record is due under Providence to the fact that the ship was provided with bulk heads and that they were in good condition and closed at the time of the accident. That any derangement of the machinery, short of the explosion of the boiler, could have wrought so much and so sudden mischief to the vessel is rather startling.

INTERIOR ITEMS.

Matter of Interest Collated from the Mainland Press.

From the Inland Sentinel.

Easter Monday was the same as any other Monday in Kamloops—only more so. It "blew"—terrible blew" and the dust was fairly blinding at times.

An ornamental hand stand is to be erected on the point of the gore opposite the government offices. It will be octagon to shape and covered with a roof.

Mr. R. Hagan, superintendent of the Industrial school, has been confined to his room for some days this week, the result of an injury received by over exertion in lifting, but he is fast recovering.

Mrs. Moro, who has been very ill, is slowly recovering.

Workmen are engaged erecting the windmill at the Industrial school.

Freighting for the upper country has fairly commenced. Several pack trains have already started from Ashcroft. The road from the 70 mile house to the 100 mile house is in a very bad state. It is to be hoped the road-party will start out sooner this year than they have been in the habit of doing in past years.

A party was in Kamloops on Thursday exhibiting a sample of tin which he stated was taken from a claim in the Okanagan district, between Vernon and the Mission. It is said a company has been organized to develop the claim. It is hoped there may be something in the matter, but until more convincing evidence is furnished than already given too much credulous should not be placed in it.

About six miles east of Ashcroft, along side of the track, the C. P. R. has opened up a granite quarry, a spur track has been laid to the face of the rock, and a large gang of workmen are engaged in taking out rock for building.

The residents of Ashcroft are considerably elated over the coal find made by Mr. P. Hodnett, about three miles from the town in the Bonaparte valley. The bed is about 42 feet in width, on which several seams of coal crop out on the surface, the largest of which is eight inches.

Between Spench's Bridge and Ashcroft, on many of the river bars, Indians were noticed digging and washing for gold, and the same was being carried on along the Thompson and Fraser to some distance below Yale. They average from 75 cents to one dollar a day per head, and seem quite content with that reward of their industry.

From the Kootenay Star.]

Mr. F. C. Gumbis, engineer in charge of the Columbia river improvements, arrived in town from the east on Thursday evening.

Mr. Thomas M. Sproat, who has performed the duties of postmaster at Revelstoke acceptably to the department, has been appointed postmaster at Sproat, where a new postoffice will be established as soon as river navigation opens.

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.

Archbishop Cleary Censures Catholic Ratepayers.

Kingston, Ont., April 10.—Archbishop Cleary has issued a circular letter to the clergy of his diocese respecting the relation of the Roman Catholics to separate schools, which has created a decided sensation. The bishop charges priests to call upon ever ratepayer who votes with the enemy and announce to him in the name of the bishop his action as a rebellion against the church; that the archbishop reserves to himself alone all power of absolving such rebellious Catholics from their sins, unless they shall have written a declaration heartily repenting of having injured the church and scandalized their neighbors by the withdrawal of their taxes from Catholic education.

BLAINE'S DAUGHTER'S GIFT.

Foreign Diplomats at Difference About the Way to Present It.

Washington, April 11.—There is some exceedingly interesting gossip afloat concerning serious dissensions, which for some time past has been agitating the diplomatic corps. Since the Hayti trouble, which resulted in the withdrawal of Hon. Stephen Preston as U. S. Minister, his position as dean of corps devolved upon Baron De Tava, Italian Minister, who, because of his long service in office, was entitled to that honor. Baron De Tava, however, was rarely in Washington, and his continued absence from his post has developed a feeling of dissatisfaction among members who have not hesitated to express their feelings to each other on the subject, though heretofore not a whisper of this state of things has reached the public. Finally, the South American representatives boldly declared their preference for Senor Romero who, as minister from Mexico to this country since March 7, 1882, ranks next to Baron De Tava. On various state occasions, when the latter has been absent, the duties of dean of corps always devolved upon him. Minister Romero is a scholarly man, a born diplomat, and is moreover a universal favorite in the corps. The South American faction, as already stated, were particularly dissatisfied with Baron De Tava, and after much parleying on the subject boldly declared a preference for the Mexican minister, declaring they would regard him, and him alone, in future as head of the body of diplomats. The corps having thus split into two distinct factions, the Europeans decided to return at least an outward show of unanimity, and the Italian minister as dean of the corps will present the gift of Miss Blaine to the President's wife. At this juncture the announcement was published that Miss Margaret Blaine would be married on the 17th instant, and as the daughter of the Secretary of State, the diplomats decided to show their regard for Mr. Blaine by a handsome present to his daughter. On her wedding day the plan of each diplomat of sending an individual present would have been followed had it not been for Mavrocyeni, the Turkish minister, who conceived the idea that the corps as a body should give an elegant present. To this end notes were sent over requesting from various ministers and secretaries a subscription of $10, and a sum of $500 was thus raised. The South Americans were opposed to subscribing to a general fund, preferring to send individual presents, but they have finally been brought to terms in the matter by the Mexican minister, who has advised an amicable adjustment of the difficulty by yielding to the wishes of the majority. The latest intelligence is that the sum of $500 being considered inadequate for the proposed present, which will probably be of silver, members of the corps have been asked to double their subscriptions.

VIVA LA REPUBLIQUE.

Central American States Unite—Policy of the New Nation.

Washington City, April 10.—A dispatch received by the Costa Rican minister to the United States, states that the congress of that republic will, at its session in June, ratify the provisional treaty of union between the republics of Central America.

Thus far three of the republics have confirmed the action of their representatives in assenting to such a treaty, Guatemala, Honduras and Salvador falling into line, and Nicaragua is expected to imitate their example when an opportunity is afforded its congress.

According to the first article, a Central American diet is to be convened of the respective governments of Central America and a proclamation of political unification of the states of Central America made under title of the Republic of Central America.

This republic will be represented by a general government, at the head of which will be one of the presidents of the five states of the confederation, the choice to be determined by lot. From September 15, 1890, when the general government will begin its functions, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Salvador will abandon the title of republics and take the denomination of the Republic of Central America.

It being of the greatest importance to promote and stimulate by all possible means facilities for transportation and communication between the states, the general government will authorize bridge building across the rivers, the moneys of telegraph lines and the establishment of telephones. A premium of $50,000 or more will be paid for the first steamship company, national or foreign, to establish in the Pacific service four steamers of 500 tons capacity between the Central American ports of Acapulco and Panama under conditions and tariffs previously stipulated. From September 15, 1890, traffic between the states of Central America will be entirely free so far as products and manufactures are concerned, but privileged goods and those of unlawful trade cannot be imported.

ACROSS THE CONTINENT.

A Voyager Will Canoe From the Atlantic to the Pacific.

New York, April 10—The Mail and Express to-day started a member of its staff in a canoe up the Hudson river with instructions to proceed to the Pacific coast and supply a bottle of water taken from the Atlantic ocean at Sandy Hook into the Pacific ocean at the mouth of the Columbia river. It is expected he will end the trip next October. The route is 7000 miles long and passes through or alongside of seventeen states between the starting point at the base of the statue of liberty and Fort Canby, Oregon. The principal water ways to be traversed are the Hudson river, the Erie canal, and the Ohio, Mississippi, Missouri and Columbia rivers. The first carry will be from Lake Erie into Chautauqua lake, the next will be at the Great Falls of the Missouri and the third over the summit of the Rocky Mountains.

The voyage is to be made in the first seaside paper canoe ever constructed. It weighs 62 pounds, is 15 feet in length, 50 inches beam; its depth is 9 inches and has storage room of 11 feet 2 inches at the bow and stern. Six feet amidships are left clear for a steersman. The sail is a "standing lug," 8 feet on the boom, 6 feet 6 inches on the head and 5 feet gaff. The leach is 10 feet 2 inches.

ANARCHY IN SPAIN.

Madrid, April 11.—The arrival of the Carlist leader Iorraibo at Valencia today was the occasion of an attempt to hold an anti-Carlist demonstration. Thousand of anti-Carlists met at the station and followed the marquis to his hotel. They smashed many windows and tried to set fire to the hotel, when a detachment of troops charged and dispersed the mob. Many persons were wounded.

A mob of 2,000 persons invaded the Carlist Club and set fire to the furniture. When the firemen came the mob tried to obstruct them. Another mob tried to burn the church, but was prevented by a detachment of troops.

The troops have failed however, to disperse the constantly gathering crowds, who have built two barricades in the streets. The military authorities have taken possession of the city and the whole garrison is under arms.

The troops made several charges. Many persons have been injured and some killed, though orders were given to avoid blood-shed as long as possible. Several members of the Carlist crowd fired revolvers into the mob and three were wounded. Order was restored after midnight. Troops occupy various points throughout the city.

AS TO FOOTBALL.

EDITOR TIMES:—The football season in the United Kingdom promises to be one of the most eventful periods that the Rugby game has yet passed through. Although the Rugby union has always set its face sternly against the introduction of professionalism into the sport, there is no doubt that to some extent, especially in Yorkshire, its edicts have been disregarded, and its rules evaded. The Football Association was formerly as strongly opposed to professionalism as the Rugby Union now is, but in the end it was compelled to acquiesce in the system and this season the last restrictions upon paid players were removed. Football as it is now played was mainly organized in the south of England, but the north has rapidly gone to the front, and the game has been taken up with enthusiasm by the ardent sporting public of Yorkshire and Lancashire. The result is that the northern clubs have been enabled to obtain enormous receipts from the takings at the gates, and the keen rivalry existing amongst them suggested the possibility of devoting some of the surplus funds toward the payment of players of the British and Irish leading classes. Under these influences, professionalism became so common in the association game that at length its recognition could not be avoided; and in spite of the Rugby Union it has been steadily growing, under various pretexts and disguises. Upon the general aspects of the "professionalism" question there is much to be advanced on each side. Professional players may do harm to the game by becoming so superior that the amateurs would be discouraged. It is true the latter would probably be beaten, but they would have a higher standard of play set before them, would gradually attain a greater degree of efficiency and would get as much enjoyment from the game as they have derived in the past. We may be sure that the superiority of paid men will soon necessitate considerable alterations in the game. Amateurs who can only spare one or two afternoons in a week for football will scarcy go to contests with rivals whose sport is their everyday business and the question must eventually arise whether the two classes should not be separated, and each confined to its own sphere. The combination of amateurs with "professionals" it must be admitted, works very well in cricket; but football is an entirely different game, which requires that a distinct line be drawn between paid and unpaid men, just as is done in athletics and rowing, also in baseball. By their leagues and alliances, the professional clubs have shown that they can stand alone, and I have no doubt that the question upon which I have touched will sooner or later come to the front. It appears to be thought in some quarters that the official acknowledgment of professionalism has increased the danger of the association game. Of course men who are paid to win matches are under a strong temptation to resort to violence when fair means fail; but it is none the less true that constant practice will show them that skill is better than rough play, and, as a matter of fact, fatal accidents rarely occur where first-class teams are engaged. But both amateurs and "professionals" when inclined to offend must be checked by the exercise of the considerable power now vested in the referee.

—The pulpit of St. Andrew's church was filled yesterday, morning and evening, by the Rev E D. McLaren, of Vancouver. On both occasions the reverend gentleman delivered an excellent discourse, such as he has long ago entitled him to be placed in the front rank of pulpit orators. The solos of Prof. Renwick in the evening were very much enjoyed, in fact they lent a charm and impressiveness to the whole service not easily to be forgotten.

—Flower garden thieves are at work. A gentleman residing on Church Hill, yesterday afternoon had his garden robbed of a large number of hyacinths and other beautiful plants. The thieves not content with taking the blossoms tore up the plants and carried them away. It would be a good thing if a thief or two of this kind could be caught and convicted. It is most exasperating after taking the trouble to fix a garden up nicely, to have it robbed in this way.

Rather Significant.

The C. P. N. steamer Sardonyx is loading for the north at Turner, Beeton & Co.'s wharf. The Yosemite will load at the same wharf to-morrow for mainland ports. The whole is significant as bearing out the statement that the C. P. N. Co have control of the wharves as far up the harbor as the railway bridge.

Australian Weather.

Letters from residents of Australia state that very hot weather has been experienced there. One day after the mercury showed from 90 deg. to 100 deg. in the shade, and from 120 deg. to 160 deg. in the sun, according to different localities. Men whose Australian experience is more than half a century old say they have never felt such a continuance of thoroughly tropical heat. If some of that extreme heat was over here it would be decidedly appreciable.

The Steely's Cargo.

The bark Earl of Derby on Friday unloaded 1500 tons of powder for the Departure Bay coal mines, which was taken up by the tug Lorne. On Saturday 2800 cases of powder for Robt. Ward & Co., was unloaded in Esquimalt. The vessel commenced to-day to discharge about one hundred tons of naval stores at the naval yard, and on Wednesday will be towed into this harbor to discharge the Victoria freight. After discharging her cargo she will go to Tacoma, where she has been chartered to load wheat for the United Kingdom.

Boys, Guns and Dogs.

Farmers residing at Pool Bay and vicinity are sorely perplexed at boys with dogs invading their lands with guns in quest of game, although the close season has come in. Dogs worrying lambs and other small stock is another more grievous nuisance. One young struggling farmer lost several lambs last week, and has lost all patience by the matter and has vowed vengeance on any dog hereafter caught within gunshot distance. The first boy caught shooting game out of season will be severely dealt with, and it behooves them now to behave themselves properly.

New Residences.

The plans have been prepared by Mr. John Teague for a $20,000 residence for Mr. T. B. Hall, to be erected on "Nob Hill."

The work on a beautiful residence for Mr. Andrew Gray has been commenced on the west side of the Victoria Arm, on the property recently purchased by Mr. Herriton, and last night when the first claim was put in, that gentleman's digest was evident. "Why," said he, "this case against Doherty was some stoop to the public court for days being remanded eight times, and at last ended by a fine of $5 being imposed. The city is now $20 out of pocket by the speculation. The reward was a most absurd one to make."

Funeral of the Late John Boyd.

The funeral of the late John Boyd took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. H. J. Horton, 149 Chatham street. After a short funeral service at the house, held by the Rev. Dr. Reid, the cortege proceeded to Ross Bay cemetery where the usual Masonic ceremonies were carried out in accordance with the beautiful ritual of the order. The service was read in an impressive manner by Excellent Companion Bro. McKeown, first principal. The following were the pallbearers: Thos. Collins, Dr. Milne, J. L. Stansfield, Thomas Scottish, M. McCahill, Wm. Trickey.

Sharpe and Brown desire to have as large a chorus as possible. Many of the leading vocalists of the city have promised their assistance and with such men as Prof. Sharpe and Mr. Brown as directors, the affair should be a huge success. All vocalists are welcome.

The Westminster Mystery.

An inquest was held on the body of Mrs. Anckers, who is supposed to have committed suicide at New Westminster on Saturday. Dr. DeWolf Smith said he had made an examination of the remains of Mrs. Anckers, and had found a bruise over the right eye. The bruise might have been made by falling and was received several hours before death. There was also a bruise underneath the chin, which might have been caused by being scraped on a stone. The blow on the forehead might have caused death. It would produce insensibility. A blow from a man's fist would have caused the wound. Death was caused by suffocation through drowning. The hearing was adjourned until to-day.

A Pleasure Yacht.

Mr. G. A. McTavish, who went up to Vancouver on Friday, made the trip to bring down a small pleasure yacht which had just arrived from the east for him self, being a fac simile of one he saw during his recent trip east and with which he was greatly pleased. It is the manufacture of the Gas Engine and Power Company of New York, and is termed an auxiliary cruiser. The engine is run by naphtha, and the general smell of oil and dirt incidental to a coal burning vessel is avoided. A small cabin is fitted for two persons, but the carrying capacity of the yacht is at least twelve people. Mr. McTavish intended to sail from Vancouver this morning for this port, providing everything was favorable.

From the South.

The steamship Walla Walla, 24 hours from San Francisco, arrived at 9 o'clock last night, one day behind her usual time, which delay was due to strong head winds and heavy seas, the latter especially strong on Friday night, during which the decks were washed by the waves. At times very little headway was made, and for several hours four miles an hour was the maximum speed. There were sixteen first-class passengers and 212 tons of freight for this port, being the largest freight list of the year. Immediately on reaching the outer wharf freight was taken from the vessel, and passengers bound for Sound ports made a rush for a military street car. Those who could not get in, and they were the great majority, footed it to the city.

Money Out.

Some time ago the board of aldermen announced that a reward of $25 would be paid to the informant who succeeded in getting a conviction against any person dumping garbage on the vacant lot, corner of Pembroke and Government streets. A Mr. J. A. Salt last night put in a claim for the $25, as he had given information leading to the conviction of John Doherty of the offence. At the time the resolution offering the reward came up, it was strenuously opposed by Ald. Herriton, and last night when the first claim was put in, that gentleman's digest was evident. "Why," said he, "this case against Doherty was some stoop to the public court for days being remanded eight times, and at last ended by a fine of $5 being imposed. The city is now $20 out of pocket by the speculation. The reward was a most absurd one to make."

Something New About B. C.

Mr. Jas. Coulvills, and two or three other persons from Vancouver have recently made a trip along the coast in a sloop. Among other things which came under their immediate observation, according to the Vancouver World, was a salmon cannery in full blast at Alert Bay and cattle grazing on Mr. Todd's large ranch at Fort Rupert the same as in summer. It is also stated "while on the trip the party located a town to go admirably situated." A company has been formed with a view of opening up a fine farming country of 192,000 acres of park land and about 100,000 acres of grazing land in the interior to which this township is the natural outlet." This, which is no doubt intended for a boom item is a fair sample of the editorial and reportorial nonsense indulged in by the World. The reportorial staff is no doubt intended to mislead the public concerning the character of the mainland coast of the province, the editorial is a malignant attempt to decry the value of Vancouver Island.

A DANGER SIGNAL.

A Cold in the Head must be aptly termed a danger signal, warning you that if neglected that dangerous and disagreeable disease, Catarrh, is sure to follow, perhaps leading to Consumption and the grave. At no season of the year is Cold in the Head more prevalent than during the Spring months, and at no season of the year is the public more generally free from it. Nasal Balm is the only remedy that will give instant relief and effect a thorough cure. The following testimonials from among thousands in our possession bear witness to its sterling merit.

Alex. Boyce, Sudbury, Ont., says: I may state that I have been afflicted with Catarrh seven or eight years, and was reduced by it to a terrible state. My symptoms such as foul breath, constant dropping into the throat, hawking and spitting, partial deafness, roaring in the ears and sickening pains in the head directly over either eye. I have used powders and douches, but all to no effect, the only result arising from the use of such was temporary relief, followed by the usual symptoms in a more aggravated form. The result is now from the use of Nasal Balm my throat feels, stoppage of the dropping into the throat, consequently less hawking and spitting, cessation of sneezing, and not once since I began its use have I had pain in the head. In fact it is my opinion that a careful and persistent use of the Balm will effect a cure in the worst case of catarrh.

Nasal Balm
Instantly Relieves
Cold in Head

W. H. Sharp, of Treherne, Manitoba, says: that I believe to be in a position to say that NASAL BALM is the best remedy for Catarrh. It speedily CLEARED OUT THE HEAD AND STOPPED THE COUGHING and SNEEZING, PERMANENTLY RELIEVING ME FROM THE TROUBLE. For some time I have suffered severely from catarrhal headache. NASAL BALM has removed every trace of it. I have every confidence in its completely curing one. It is deserving of all you claim for it. "A Positive Cure for Catarrh. Easy and Pleasant to use." I believe it will soon be for sale in every town and village in Manitoba.

D. Derbyshire, Mayor of Brockville and President of the Ontario Creamery Association, says: Nasal Balm beats the world for Catarrh and Cold in the Head. In my own case it effected relief from the first application.

Nasal Balm
Positively Cures
Catarrh

Isaac Waterman, Imperial Oil Co's, Petrolia, Ont., says: Nasal Balm save me the most perfect satisfaction of any medicine I ever used for Cold in the Head. I found it sure to use, quick in giving relief and effecting a complete cure in a couple of hours.

Mr. John H. Adams, merchant, Beamsford, says: I have used Nasal Balm for Catarrh, and found it to be a certain cure.

If Nasal Balm is not kept in stock by your dealers, it will be sent post paid on receipt of price (50 cents for small and $1 for large size bottles) by addressing

Our Spring Opening.

The time has come when you must think about Spring wear, and we want you to connect these thoughts with Cox Bros' grand stock. Our preparations for Spring for items have been made on a very extensive scale with a view to offering buyers the utmost latitude of choice in styles and prices. We are now about to submit the stock, which represents our taste and judgment, to the critical test of public opinion in our Spring Opening and hope, to hear your voice in the general verdict. You will find our stock adequately representative of the best the market affords, both in materials and styles, and we guarantee our prices to be as low in every case as the quality of our goods will warrant. Prices must always be considered in relation to quality, and the final test of quality is actual wear. We are confident that the test of wear will prove the actual worth of the goods we offer. Before you make your Spring Purchases we respectfully ask an examination of our goods. We shall not importune any one to buy, feeling that if our stock will not make buyers, nothing we can say will win us custom. A half hour spent in looking over our assortment of goods will give you a fair idea of the styles that will be popular in this Spring season, and we can only hope it will be as much pleasure for you to see as for us to show our goods.

March
April
May

Are the best months in which to purify your blood. During the winter months the blood becomes thin and impure, the body becomes weak and tired, the appetite may be lost, and just now the system craves the aid of a reliable medicine. Langley's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted to purify and enrich the blood, to create a good appetite and to overcome that tired feeling. It increases in popularity every year.

Langley's Sarsaparilla

Is the ideal spring medicine. It rouses the kidneys and liver, tones the digestive organs, creates an appetite, purifies and vitalizes the impure and sluggish blood, cures the headache and overcomes all the prostrating effects of that tired feeling.

The Spring Medicine

At the coming of spring the blood should be purified, as impurities which have been accumulating for months, or even years, are liable to manifest themselves and seriously affect the health. Langley's Sarsaparilla is undoubtedly the best blood purifier. It expels every taint of impurity, drives out scrofulous humors and germs of disease and gives to the blood the quality and tone essential to good health.
